04-23-24

Finding the perfect fit from Mountain Khakis is just as important as selecting the right tool for a job or the right gear for a fishing trip. The fit needs to suit your needs for that day, and luckily for you, at Mountain Khakis, we have tried to plan around what our customers look for in a fit as we design with purpose and functional intent.

We have five fits – and all five are designed with deliberate and specific performance capabilities.

For the outdoors – we have our “Classic Fit”, and our all-new “Performance Fit”.

For everyday life – we have the “Modern Fit”, “Relaxed Fit” and “Slim Fit”.

Most importantly, at Mountain Khakis we believe in our “Five P’s” of Product Development:

1. Purposeful Design.
2. Precise Engineering.
3. Particular attention to trims and details.
4. Passionate Manufacturing Partners.
5. For Phenomenal Outdoor Performance.

What do our “Five P’s” mean?

1. Purposeful Design:

At Mountain Khakis, everything we design is crafted with a functional purpose. We ask ourselves: what is the customer's need, how do we solve for that need, and why is our product superior?

At the end of the day, we are in the business of enhancing our customers' experience in the outdoors and in life. If our product isn't exceptional, we won't make it.

2. Precise Engineering:

Our technical design team meticulously oversees every measurement and detail. At a minimum, we have no fewer than 60 points of measure in our pant designs. We sample our products through multiple rounds to test, measure, and adjust with incredibly low tolerance margins to ensure our product is executed precisely.

Importantly, we have a research & development (R&D) process that involves field testing our new releases across a variety of body shapes before we release our products

3. Particular attention to trims & details:

We sweat the small stuff. Whether it's selecting the best-in-class YKK zippers for quality and reliability or adopting Sorona™ by Dupont as our insulation fill, our truth is in the detail. Our product team reviews many alternate trims and ultimately selects the trims we believe will perform best and exceed customer expectations. We don't select trims based on price, which is another reason why our products stand the test of time and provide the ultimate durability.

4. Passionate Manufacturing Partners:

We only partner with factories that are masters of their craft. Our product team travels to our factories to ensure the perfect partnership and that manufacturing techniques and standards meet our Mountain Khakis standards. If the factory isn't contagiously passionate about their processes and their craft, we won't partner with them.

5. For Phenomenal Outdoor Performance:

The first four steps ensure we unlock the most important part of our process: our product performs. At Mountain Khakis, we believe that not only does our product perform, it performs phenomenally. Our customers agree, and that's why those who have experienced the Mountain Khakis difference come back season after season, staying true to our brand as they continue their journey with us.

Next, we'll explore our three fits for everyday Life:

Modern Fit:

This is our best-selling pant fit.

Best Selling Pant of this Fit: Teton Pant
Rising Star to try: The Rover Hybrid

The Modern Fit from Mountain Khakis represents a contemporary approach to pant design that offers a sleek and tailored silhouette without compromising on comfort or mobility.

Unlike traditional relaxed fits, the Modern Fit is characterized by a slightly trimmer profile through the seat and thigh, providing a more streamlined appearance. However, it still retains enough room to allow for ease of movement, making it versatile for a wide range of activities as well as everyday life.

This fit is designed to appeal to individuals who prefer a more tailored look without sacrificing functionality. The Modern Fit sits comfortably at the natural waist and features a

Fun Spring Colors to Try: The Stretch Poplin Pant

The Relaxed Fit Pant from Mountain Khakis offers a comfortable and roomy silhouette that prioritizes ease of movement and versatility. This fit is designed to provide ample space through the seat and thigh, allowing for unrestricted mobility and comfort during various activities. With a relaxed fit, these pants sit slightly below the waist and feature a straight leg opening. There's a perfect amount of room for air-circulation, keeping you cooler in the Summer months without compromising your style meaning this fit is ideal for everyday wear.

Mountain Khakis' Relaxed Fit Pants are crafted from high-quality fabrics & trims and constructed with durability in mind, making them ideal for outdoor adventures and rugged pursuits. Whether you're chasing your dreams in the great outdoors, or simply running errands around town, these pants offer the perfect blend of style and functionality. With their relaxed fit and durable construction, they provide all-day comfort and performance you can trust, making them a go-to choice for those who value both comfort and style in their everyday wardrobe.

Slim Fit:
